

Health and Safety Policy

Asia Iron Australia believes that work related injuries and occupational illnesses are preventable and that the adoption of best practice health and safety management is integral to our business success. All Asia Iron Australia activities will be planned and performed so that good health and safety outcomes have primary importance over other business objectives.

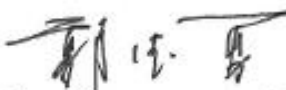

Our health and safety objectives are to:

- Achieve health and safety performance of which the Company can be proud;
- Maintain and protect the wellbeing of all persons working for and on behalf of Asia Iron and visitors to our business; and
- Manage health and safety to a standard that meets legislative and business requirements.

To achieve our health and safety objectives we will:

- Empower and expect persons working for and on behalf of Asia Iron to satisfy themselves that effective controls are in place to identify and manage hazards whilst at work;
- Establish a workforce that is "risk aware" and who apply a risk based approach to decision making, including delay or suspend work where effective controls are not in place to manage hazards;
- Promote a workforce culture where workers highly regard their own and others health and safety by preventing unsafe acts and controlling unsafe conditions;
- Comply with all applicable health and safety legislation and regulations, industry codes and standards and other agreements to which we are a signatory;
- Develop and review achievable health and safety management strategies to measure and address our risks and impacts;
- Promote continual improvement in our operations through the implementation, maintenance and review of our Health and Safety Management System;
- Promote a culture in which all employees contractors and suppliers to our business share this commitment;
- Support line management and individual accountability in achieving and maintaining leading practice;
- Through training, community consultation programs and review processes, make employees, contractors and visitors aware of this Policy and our Health and Safety Management Systems; and
- Annually review this Policy and communicate it to all internal and interested external parties.

All Asia Iron personnel are responsible for the application of this Health and Safety Policy.
